Part One – STUDENT PRIVACY STATEMENT & CONSENT FORM

Dear Parent/Guardian/Adult Student,

The Young Economist of the Year (YEOTY) competition is an initiative to promote Economics among post-primary students.

As part of this remit, YEOTY produces short videos/takes photographs/ captures audio recordings/gathers anonymised samples of students' work from schools that demonstrate good practice in teaching and learning. The videos/photographs/recordings/samples of work are used by YEOTY and its educational partners to support teacher professional development and may be hosted on the YEOTY website, youngeconomist.ie as well as included in teacher professional development events both online and face-to-face.

Entry to Young Economist of the Year requires project work to be submitted by participating students. Project work can include documents, images, videos and presentations in a variety of formats.

To showcase the quality of submissions, documents, images, videos, presentations contained in entire projects, they may be reproduced and published on dedicated web pages of YEOTY youngeconomist.ie, and official partners of the YEOTY initiative as identified on the official YEOTY website. The material may also be reproduced in reports, conference presentations or other such educational publications arising from the work of the project. In all such instances the student, teacher and school will be referenced and acknowledged.

In submitting an entry to the Young Economist of the Year, participants may be selected to participate in showcasing and sharing the YEOTY project work and experience of having taken part in the Young Economist of the Year to support teaching and learning of economics and foster the engagement of future entrants with the event. Filming/Photography/Recording of the student's work/entry will be included and may include general classroom footage, photographs of teaching and learning, filmed or recorded interviews and samples of students' work/entries. Videos/images/recordings may also be circulated to the media for promotional purposes to enhance future engagement of the YEOTY programme.

These videos/images/recordings/ samples of students' work shall remain the property of YEOTY and they will be used for the purposes set out herein and as part of the YEOTY framework in order to both promote and demonstrate good practice in teaching and learning.

As you (student over 18 after 03/03/2025) / your child may be identifiable in these videos/images/recordings/student work samples, we must obtain your consent as the adult student /child's parents/guardian to comply with GDPR requirements. All personal data captured as part of this process will be processed in accordance with GDPR regulations.

Thank you for your interest in YEOTY. Can you please indicate below if you consent to your child's involvement in any of the activities laid out below.

Yours sincerely,

YEOTY Team
